FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, Jan. 19-6 P. M. The stock market has been in a state of semi-panic to-day, and the entire list has undergone a further large de-cline. The inherent weakness of the market, to which we have frequently called attention, is now rendered painfully apparent to many who, with more faith than judgment, continued to hold stocks on speculation, despite the obvious tendency of prices and our repeated

The bull party has never recovered from the shock of the panic of last spring. The old operators were too much weakened to be able to engineer a fresh rise of magnitude successfully, and the nutside public were too distrustful and too much abouted with covernment countries and matched with covernment. with government securities and petroleum uit their broken ranks, so the market has languished; while, as for some time past, the course of the war has indicated an earlier termination than was erally expected, fresh strength has been given to the view of the probable resumption of specie paynts within no long period afterward.

capitalists and speculators generally, and unsettiod confidence in all values. The peace rumors and the prevailing better in the possibilty of the war coming to a sudden termination, sustained by military events, have, by depressing the price of gold, naturally affected everying also to be bought with paper money. The tendency of gold has been all the more rapidly downward in conse-quence of an impression which is fast gaining ground that the outstanding currency, at the end f the war, will not be allowed to stand in the way f the speedy return to a specie basis, but that it will be provided for by funding into coin bonds at its current aduation. ## THE CITY SEWERS.

Their Worthlessness and Their Price. The following is an extract from the annual report of the Croton Aqueduct Department for the year 1884 on the very important subject of our city sewerage:—

SHWERAGE SYSTEM SURVEYS.
Under the law of 1849, which created the Croton Aqu duct Department and defined its powers and duties, the Croton Aqueduct Board are charged "with the construc-tion, repairs and cleansing of all the sewers and underins, but subject to the orders and directions of the Common Council as to the times and places of building new sewers, and to the general plan which has been or may be adopted for the sewerage and drainage of said city."

No general plan had at that time been adopted. Its THE MILLSPAUGH-ADAMS CASE.

Jax. 19.—Andrew J. Millspaugh vs. Neth Adams.—The trial of this interesting cause was resumed this morning, in the presence of a numerous and deeply interested audience. Annexed is a report of the proceedings:—
Charles Seely deposed that he resided at No. 9 Carroll place; was acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Millspaugh and Mr. Adams; saw Adams and Mrs. Millspaugh in compaby on Broadway.

Adams annoved at being galled a rake

Charles C. Field deposed that he was in the dry goods business; was a member of the firm of Carpenter, Vail & Fuller; knew Mr. and Mrs. Millspaugh; became acquainted with Mrs. Millspaugh in the fall of 1856; knew Mr. Adams; became acquainted with him at the Bond Street House; Mr. and Mrs. Millspaugh boarded bond street house; as: and ars. Milispaugh boarded there at the time; was in the habit of calling upon Mr. and Mrs. Milispaugh every evening almost; therelations that existed between Mr. and Mrs. Milispaugh were the usual ones that exist between man and wife; I think there was a coloness between them; saw Mr. Adams in Mrs. Millspaugh's apartments; I called there one evening and saw Mr. Adams there; he was intoxicated at the time, and said some one had been calling him a rake, and that there was a married woman who was trying to re-form him; he then said that he believed I was the per-only married her for her wealth, she became disjusted with him. Being fond of society, she sought the society of persons more congenial to her taste. The plaintil's conduct towards his wife was brutal it the extreme. On one occasion, over a game of cards it his own house, he called her a damned fool and threw the cards in her face. Indeed, such was the conduct of this man towards his wife that on one occasion she was afraid to spend the night with him, and slept with a lady friend of her's who was boarding in the same house. The counsel stated in his opening that the laws of Indiana required her to be in the State a year before she could get a divorce. Such is not the case, and it nover was the law in that State. What do you think of a case like this where the counsel for the plaintiff avails himself of the opportunity that the defendant and Mrs. Millspaugh committed perjury, when such was not the case? What will be the effect of this announcement in all the public prints? Is it just or chivalrous to come here and assail a lady in such slanderous terms? I say it is horrible, and I hope the jury will justify the defendant and Mrs. Millspaugh in the eyes of the world, when they come to deliberate upon their verdict. What has Mr. Adams done—seduced her (Mrs. Millspaugh)? Well, it is the first time that marriage and seduction went hand in hand together. The seducer is one who ruins women and then casts them aside for other victims. No man was more sincere than Mr. Adams in this case. Why should he lay all he possessed at the feet of this lady except from pure motives? Seduction! Was there ever greater profanation than to call this marriage aduction? Where is the evidence of any seduction! They proved that Adams went to dinner with the lady, was to church with her and was seen in the streets with her once or twice. Is this seduction? Now, genitemen, what sor tof a case must that be which requires such an outrage upon public decency? The counsel knew that he had no evidence of an improper intercourse, and yet the def knew that he had no evidence of an improper intercourse, and yet the defendent is characterized as a seducer and a perjurer. I nover knew a greater outrage under the form of law.

"Oh, shame, where is thy blush?"

I am sick of commenting upon the features of this case. A man comes here who knows his wife is innocent and charges her with being a wanton and a perjurerall that he may add a few more dollars to his pocket. We shall now present our evidence, and will rost satisfied with any verdict which you may deem proper to render. We shall first cast to the stand the plaintiff himself.

Andrew J. Millspaugh deposed that he was the plaintiff in this case. Q is that your signature, and did you write that letter to your wife? A. I think I did.

Mr. Clinton—Will the Court mark this Exhibit A—I believe it is the first exhibit for the defence?

MR. Millspaugh and the resided at the Bond Street House, with her husband, in the winter of 1860; knew Mr and Mrs Millspaugh; became acquainted with Mrs. Millspaugh; saw her almost every day and evening; asw Mr Millspaugh; saw her almost every day and evening; asw Mr Millspaugh; saw her almost every day and evening; asw Mr Millspaugh; presented as the Bond Street House in the winter of 1861; was very intimate with Mrs. Millspaugh; saw her almost every day and evening; asw Mr Millspaugh; saw her habit of drinking a great deal every evening; during the winters of 1861 and 1862 was in his room almost every evening; occasionally Mr. Millspaugh and his wife would come to our room and play euchre, ite would drink to excess on all these occasions. Q. Did Mr. and Mrs. Millspaugh seem to live happily together? A. I don't think they did. Q. Did Mrs. Millspaugh talk to you upon her relations with her husband? A. She did. Q. What did she say?

Mr. Fallerton objected, on the ground that this was a ter the alleged intimecy between Adams and Mrs. Millspaugh.

Mr. Clinton—This has reference to 1860. The charge his wife that she was just fool enough to have good luck; this was said in an angry tone. Q. Have you ever beard him cail her a damned fool and tell her to "shut up;" A. I heard him cail her a "fool" and tell her to "shut up;" on two occasions I found Mra. Millspaugh in bed with my wife; I had been to Providence, R. I., and upon going up to my room I found Mra. Millspaugh and her little boy there.

Crost-examined—I deal in gold and stocks; I am interested in a club house at the corner of Prince and Mercer streets. Q. What is the character of that house? A. It is perfectly respectable, one of the most respectable places in the city. Q. Is it a gambling house? A. We do some gambling there; we play cribbage and round games there, and bet money on the result. Q. Do you play faro there? A. Yes, sometimes. Q. Who presides at the faro table? A. I object to abswer. Q. What other games do you play; do you play brag? A. No; I never saw a game of brag in the house. Q. Bo you play poten?

A. Yes, some poker. Q. Bluff? A. That is another name for poker.

Counsel—Oh, excuse me; I am quite a novice in these matters.

Q. Do you keep a bar there? A. No, sir. Q. Do you games do you play; do you play brag! A. No; I never saw a game of brag in the house. Q. Do you ply pokee?

A Yes, some poker. Q. Blust? A That is another name for poker.
Counsel—Oh, excuse me; I am quite a novice in these riatters.
Q. Do you keep a bar there? A. No, sir. Q. Do you not keep a table sot with liquors and refreshments? A. There is a refreshment table there; the liquor is brought up by the servant? Q. Is it not a feature of all gambling saloons to have refreshments on hand free to all the guests? A. I don't know. Q. Have you never been in other gambling houses? A. I have, at the watering places and around. Q. Did you never notice refreshment tables in these places? A. Not particularly. Q. How many persons congregate there nightly? A. Sometimes four or five, sometimes ten or a dozen; they were always invited there. Q. Did Adams ever visit your gambling house? A. No, sir, when he came to my house he went up stairs to my private apartments, where my wife resided. Re direct—Did Mr. Millspaugh ask you to introduce him to your establishment for the purpose of gambling? Mr. Fullerton objected to the Withess answering the question, and subsequently withdrew the objection.

Witness—He did not. Q. Do you know of his asking to be introduced there to play cards? A. I do not. Cross-examined—Saw Mrs. Millspaugh and Mr. Adams at the Metropolism Hotel once.

MRS. MILLEPACUS CONTENTIARS LEAVING HER BUSHAND.

Samuel A. Beekman testifled that he was in the habit of trading with me up to the close of 1859; Millspaugh cent minto my store once and paid a bill of about a hundred dollars; he said he did not want me to trust his wife any more, as he had plenty of dry goods in his own store; I resoluced that a Mrs. Alsanor's with PROPORTS.
